

About the CAEF Designation

The Certified Account Executive in Factoring (CAEF) designation is the first professional certification of its kind that recognizes professionalism within the Factoring Industry. This program is the gold standard of best practices in Factoring and Receivables Based Finance. This designation promotes and protects the factoring industry by providing recognition for those individuals that understand the complexities of general factoring and have demonstrated expertise in the management of factoring accounts.

The CAEF Oversight Committee

The CAEF Oversight Committee was formed to review and approve credit units for the CAEF Continuing Factoring Education. This panel includes five industry professionals that will assist in the development, compliance and improvement of the certification program and its continuing education requirements.

Members of the CAEF Oversight Committee include:

- Ivan Baker - United Capital Funding
- Lisa Hultz – Mazon Associates, Inc.
- Julie Regenold – TradeGate Finance, Inc.
- Jared Ullman - Ullman & Ullman, P.A.

CAEF Recertification Cycle

CAEFs are required to advance their professional development through ongoing continuing education. In order for the CAEF to maintain an active credentialed status, recertification is required every two (2) calendar years. The Certification Cycle begins on the first day of the calendar year (i.e. January 1st) following the CAEF's successful passage of the CAEF exam. New Certification Cycles automatically commence on the first day of the calendar year following the completion of the prior two year Certification Cycle. CAEF's failure to timely satisfy the minimum continuing education requirements shall result in automatic placement on inactive status. CAEF's may apply towards the current Certification Cycle CFE requirement, up to, but no more than, three (3) CFE units earned during the immediately preceding Certification Cycle in excess of the minimum 15 credit requirement.

Expired Credentials

A CAEF that has not completed the required continuing education requirements by December 31st of the expiring Certification Cycle will be placed on inactive status and can no longer use the CAEF designation. For a CAEF to qualify for an active status after becoming involuntarily inactive, the CAEF must complete five (5) units in addition to the fifteen (15) units being required within three (3) months following the expiration date in order to reinstate their active status. The CAEFs failure to obtain active status after the three (3) month grace period extension expires shall be placed on permanent inactive status and shall be required to retake the CAEF exam to obtain the certification. A CAEF shall be entitled to retake the CAEF Exam once every five (5) years to reinstate their credential.

Required Continuing Factoring Education (CFE) Units

The CAEF must complete a minimum of fifteen (15) CFE units per each two (2) year Certification Cycle in order to maintain an active credential. Seventy-five percent (75%) of that requirement must come from a formal program and the remaining 25% may come from in-house training and/or self-study.

Eligible Programs for CAEF Credits

Formal Program

A minimum of seventy-five percent (75%) or 11.5 CFE units must come from formal programs. There are four elements that must be satisfied in order for a formal program to qualify as acceptable for CFE credit. These formal programs can be provided by professional industry associations, Universities or Business Schools, and approved independent education providers such as consultants or online programs. Acceptable formal programs must:

- Contribute to the professional competence of participants.
- State program objectives which specify the level of knowledge the participants should have attained, or the level of competence to be demonstrated upon completing the program.
- Be developed by individuals qualified in the subject matter and instructional design.
- Have an outline or curriculum approved by the CAEF Oversight Committee. Any program may be submitted to the Oversight Committee for content review and approval (including University Courses).

Non-Formal Programs

A maximum of twenty-five percent (25%) or 3.5 CFE units can come from non-formal programs. Non-formal programs include both Self-Study and In-House Training.

Self-Study

CFE Credit may be earned through Self-Study. The Self-Study format includes the following types of exercises:

- Book review on relevant topics for CFE credit
- Authoring articles on relevant CFE topics for a Business Professional Publication
- Public speaking on industry related topics
- Reading industry publication

In-House Training or Employee Sponsored Educational Programs

CFE Credit may be earned through In-House Training or Sponsored Educational Programs offered by the CAEF's employer. Many Factoring Companies, Commercial Lenders and Banks have developed internal educational programs and require staff to complete some amount of ongoing education. In-House and Employee Sponsored Educational programs must be approved by the CAEF Oversight Committee to count towards the CFE requirements.

*Some In-House Training may be approved for Formal Program credit. Please submit your request
